*Announcing the 2011 – 2012
GDHA Season!*

Greetings from your GDHA Board!

This past spring those folks attending our Spring Festivals graciously took the time to participate in some information gathering related to GDHA programming. When that information was tabulated your Board found that many of you liked the events as presented in the past years, while some made suggestions for new or slightly different events. The Board has considered all of this information and this brochure is announcing our 2011 – 2012 Season of Events. You will discover one new festival, a moderated Fall Reading Session Event and the return of two Spring Festivals – slightly altered.

The opportunities planned for this season does not signal a change to be in effect for years to come. In fact, we anticipate slight program changes each year in order to accommodate as many needs and interests as possible of the handbell community in the Greater Dallas area.

We trust you will find this season of interest and look forward to seeing you at one or all of the coming events.
